The Impact of Graphing Software in Educational Visualisations

Participation and Data Security

The study is completely voluntary. Participants are welcome to withdraw at any time without a reason. If you wish to withdraw later on in the study, please note that once data has been anonymised it cannot be withdrawn. Also, if data is submitted anonymously (like through an anonymous survey), it cannot be withdrawn even before the anonymisation date. Your data and participation is completely confidential. If you are a child, your school will have been informed that your participation may not be tracked. No risks of the study are foreseen.

About the Study

The study will begin with a short survey about your experiences with graphing software (if you join later on in the study, this may not be applicable). After the software has been developed, participants will read a short essay, then go through a set of tasks on the provided software. Afterwards, there will be a survey that participants should complete regarding their experiences. This can be done at your own pace, in your own time, and will not be recorded in any way, it is expected to take around 20 minutes.

Data Usage

The findings of the study will be used to look at how the use of graphing software, specifically engineered for A-Level students and Undergraduates, can improve a student's understanding of a topic. All data submitted to the study and your participation is strictly confidential. The names and emails of participants will be recorded and stored on a secure server prior to the end of the study, where it will be deleted. The names and emails of participants will be used solely for communication about the study. All findings will be submitted anonymously via surveys run by a secure University of Bristol account. The findings will be stored privately on this account, on a secure server. After the study, the anonymous data will be archived on a secure server only accessible to researchers upon their request.
